WHAT IS AP-LS?

The American Psychology-Law Society (AP-LS) is a division of the American Psychological Association (APA). AP-LS members and the organization itself work to advance the contributions of psychology to the understanding of law and legal institutions through basic and applied research.

We promote the education of psychologists in matters of law and the education of legal personnel in matters of psychology, including the appropriate use of psychologists in the legal system; and inform the psychological and legal communities and the general public of current research, educational and service activities in the field of psychology and law.
